

Hash 507 .. Ashprington weekend .. 12/13th May 2007

Three phrases spring to mind when describing the latest Hash social weekend....

1 .. stunningly beautiful location

2 .. an extravagance of fine food and wine

3 .. RAM.....

Yes, we had all three in equal quantities. Ollie & Pepys laid a varied and interesting trail through the woods, along the saltmarsh and through the vineyard, with a regroup in the village stores for a welcome cream tea. Hash circle followed in the tent field, followed by an excellent two-course meal at the Durrant Arms.

Admiration goes out to the intrepid campers who survived a wild night, and even more admiration to those who had the forethought to go home to their warm cosy beds, only to dutifully return next morning for a full English breakfast.

In driving rain, Goolie (& GingGang!) were seen laying the hare-of-the-dog trail .. 3 times round the war memorial (and 4 for the longs). With gushing drains spewing flood water across the lanes, the lightweight POSH riders decided to retreat to somewhere warm & dry, & to look forward to another ride another day.

Big Thanks to Ali G & Floater & Ollie & Pepys & WetSpot & Goolie & everyone else for all their gallant efforts in making it all such a memorable occasion .. Tj
